CEREMONY SCHEDULE
The following worksheet will vary according to religious traditions or personal preferences. It’s a general outline that you will need to adapt accordingly. The slots for times are provided to help you organize the order of the ceremony.

PRELUDE
Time ___________________ Music ________________________________

PROCессiONAL
Time ___________________ Music ________________________________
Participant order _______________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________

WELCOME/PRAYER
Reading _________________________________________________________

READING #1
Time _______________ Reading _____________________________________

READING #2
Time _______________ Reading _____________________________________

READING #3
Time _______________ Reading _____________________________________

READING #4
Time _______________ Reading _____________________________________

VOW INTRODUCTION
Time _______________ Reading _____________________________________
EXCHANGE OF RINGS
Reading

ADDITIONAL

Time Music/Reading

ADDITIONAL

Time Music/Reading

ADDITIONAL

Time Music/Reading

PRESENTATION OF THE COUPLE
Music

RECESSIONAL
Music

Stress-Busters

After all the dreaming and anticipating, it seems odd that a bride could have butterflies, but it’s a fact that you’ll probably be nervous on your wedding day. Here are ways to relieve the stress:

• Eat before the ceremony. You don’t want to be lightheaded.
• Don’t make the day about money. Pay any outstanding balances before the ceremony. You don’t want to lug around a checkbook.
• Prepare an emergency kit filled with aspirin, a few extra pairs of pantyhose, mints, hair and safety pins, tissues, a sewing kit, tampons, a few energy bars, and so on.
• Allow extra time for activities. Everything tends to take longer than expected.
• Whenever possible, delegate.